EAGAN, MN, October 29, 2018 – Capitol, the leading consumer electronics distribution source for residential systems and light commercial contractors, today announced it is kicking off the holiday selling season with distribution of its November flyer, featuring a multitude of products representing the Smart Home, Audio, Video, and Networking categories.

The flyer is a Capitol tradition. Among the top-shelf brands included this year are Nest, Ring, LeakSmart, Onkyo, Pioneer, Sony, and LG.

“This holiday season Smart Home leads the pack, thanks in part to the abundance of well-designed, easy-to-use products introduced over the past year,” said Curt Hayes, President and CFO, Capitol. “Companies like LeakSmart are paving the way for innovators who are tying non-traditional categories such as home plumbing into the home network, with designs that are reliable and easy to master.”

Among the LeakSmart models included in Capitol’s November flyer is the LeakSmart Snap, a shut-off valve control that installs without tools or the need to cut into the main water supply.

In addition, homeowners can extend protection during power and WiFi outages with the new LeakSmart Hub 3.0, with built-in WiFi and a battery back-up Zigbee system hub that works even when the internet and power is down.

Also included in the flyer is Onkyo's TX-NR585 7.2-Channel Network A/V Receiver, a world-class AVR that supports 5.2.2-channel Dolby Atmos® & DTS:X® playback, with 80 Watts per channel, six HDMI inputs, and full compatibility with Dolby Vision, giving consumers a simple solution for bringing true audiophile-grade sonics into the home with minimal setup required.

“Our customers expect to be in the know when it comes to the leading products and technologies to maximize sales through the end of the year,” added Mr. Hayes. “Our current flyer is proof that we are more than ready to meet and exceed their expectations.”
